COMPANY NEWS RELEASE

SEK-Surebond announces the opening of another new distribution warehouse: Dayton, New Jersey.

To all of our valued customers:

It's an exciting time at SEK-Surebond and we are thrilled to expand our distribution warehouse system. Due to tremendous growth, we continue to expand our product fulfillment operation to ensure we are able to meet and exceed the expectations of our growing customer base. The new facility is located at 83 Stults Road in Dayton, New Jersey. Centrally located in New Jersey, the facility is convenient to all of the major truck routes heading in all directions including: The New Jersey Turnpike (Route 95), The Garden State Parkway, Route 78, Route 287, Route 1 and Route 9.

The new facility will be a distribution point for our full product line with the exception of the very few products we offer that are classified as HazMat. The primary service area of this distribution center will be customer ship to locations as far south as Virginia, as far west as Central Pennsylvania and the entire northeast throughout New England.

As an SEK-Surebond customer you should expect to enjoy many benefits:

- Reduced shipping costs
- Better transit times
- LTL and FTL options
- Pick up availability when scheduled through our St Charles, IL office
- Immediate access to all of our top products
- Inventory management flexibility

We warmly welcome you to contact us if you have any questions, concerns or suggestions regarding the immediate launch of our new distribution warehouse. As always, we appreciate your business and look forward to assisting you in the new future.
